

Speech & Language Therapy Services

Tall Pines is excited to announce a new partnership with Technology for Education and Communication Consulting, Inc. to provide individualized speech and language therapy services. www.teccsupport.com. Parents are sometimes forced to make the decision to send kids to ESY programs to receive speech services or have private services after the camp day when kids are tired and not performing their best. Now they can have the best of both worlds while enjoying the benefits of Tall Pines with private therapy sessions during the camp day. Goals and objectives will be generated based on parent input as well as school based progress notes and therapist feedback. Sessions will be tailored to each individualized campers' needs and parents will be provided with progress notes weekly as well as interactive take home practice activities. Campers can receive treatment for a variety of speech and language needs including: fluency, articulation, social skills, receptive language, expressive language, auditory processing, and voice disorders. In addition, TECC, Inc. specializes in integrating technology solutions during the therapy session giving kids immediate feedback regarding progress towards goals. Kids will be motivated by fun engaging lessons coordinated with their daily schedule to maximize their summer experience. Sessions will be 30 minutes in duration and make up sessions will be made available in case of absence. Each session will cost $50 and include: initial goal and objective planning, individualized private therapy session, carryover assignments, and weekly progress notes.

Jennifer Drenchek-Cristiano received her Master's degree in Speech Pathology from the University of Buffalo where she worked at the Rehabilitation Engineering Research Center on Technology Transfer focusing on AAC systems. Jennifer started TEC Consulting, Inc. and has been working as a private consultant in New Jersey schools performing AAC and AT evaluations as well as speech and language services. Jennifer started an afterschool social skills program for high school students focusing on positive peer interactions. For the past 6 years, Jennifer has organized, scheduled, and planned ESY summer speech services in the Cherry Hill School District. She has experience with students birth to 21 and specializes in integrating technology solutions into their educational plan. She has provided numerous trainings across the country on assistive technology, augmentative communication, and iPads for speech therapists. Jennifer is an adjunct faculty member at Richard Stockton College of New Jersey in the Speech Pathology and Audiology department where she has worked as a professor and clinical supervisor for the past ten years.
